

Sasquatch Tales: Woodboogers Woods

When you visit the woods, do you ever get that strange feeling like you're being watched? SNAP! CRACK! CRASH! Did you hear that!? What was that? It sounded like a small tree being broken in half! What about that shadow you saw behind the big spruce tree while you were sitting around the campfire? And were those round, red, shining eyes - or were they some kind of strange lights? You thought you saw someone tall, swaying back and forth, peeking at the campfire. As you eat your smore, you start to wonder, is it just your imagination or is there something out there? Did you try to figure out who was throwing those pebbles at your tent all night? Discover for yourself who or what is living in these woods. Wood Boogers Woods is a tale about the Corker family enjoying a camp out at their favorite spot in the mountains. But then some very strange things start to happen. Find out who is causing these mysterious and unexplained events. This is a Meet in the Middle book, so both stories end together in the middle. First you can read the family's experience. Then flip over the book and you can see, hear and think about who is causing mischief in this intriguing tale. Seeing really is believing! You may find yourself a new Woodsy friend along the way!
