

The Dialogue of the Gulshan-I-Raz: Or Mystical Garden of Roses of Mahmoud Shabistari (Classic Reprint)

The following translation of the Dialogue of the Gulshan-i-R az was begun in the year 1879, and was thrown aside on the appearance of Mr. Whinfield sponse translation of the entire work in the ensuing year. Subsequently the author of the present was induced to complete that portion which sets forth the principles of the Sufi philosophy, omitting the Prologue, Epilogue, and the concluding portions, which serve rather to excuse the use of the various sensual images employed by Sufis than to explain their principles. The author has endeavoured, while adhering as closely to the text as circumstances would allow and retaining the meaning in its fullest sense, to produce such a translation as might interest those who have no time for the perusal of voluminous notes or commentaries, and who might possibly be repelled by the apparent dryness of a literal translation.
